Assistant Professor of Human Resource Development and Technology Management, Tenure Track and Associate Professor of Human Resource Development and Technology Management, Tenure Track

Texas A&M University's Department of Educational Administration and Human Resource Development, in the College of Education and Human Development, seeks a tenure track Assistant Professor in the area of Human Resource Development and Technology Management and a tenure track Assistant/Associate Professor in the field of Human Resource Development and Technology Management. The Department of Education Administration and Human Resource Development and the College of Education and Human Development are especially interested in qualified candidates who can contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community through their research, teaching, and/or service.

Qualifications: The successful applicants for each position should have earned a Ph.D. or Ed. D. in Human Resource Development and Technology Management or a or a related field, an established research agenda, teaching experience in higher education, and potential for external funding activity consistent with a tenure-earning faculty member at a Research Extensive university.

Responsibilities: We seek to hire exceptional scholars in the area of Human Resource Development and Technology Management. Thus, preference will be given to candidates with preparation in Human Resource Development and Technology Management, with one or more research agendas underway as evidenced through refereed publications in the case of Assistant Professor and an established research record in the case of Associate Professor. These are tenure track professor appointments with responsibilities for two courses per semester in the area of human resource development and Technology Management. Courses include, but are not limited to TCMG 272: Technology and End-User Support, TCMG 303: Unix System Administration Practices, TCMG 316: Database Systems Administration and Application, TCMG 308: Cybersecurity and Digital Ethics, TCMG 412: Contemporary Issues in Technology Management, TCMG 476: Managing Technical Networks, EHRD 203: Foundations of Human Resource Development, EHRD 477: Project Management, EHRD 405: Principles and Practice of Leadership in Human Resource Development and Technology Management. Preference will be given to individuals with a strong Human Resource Development and Technology Management background. In addition to research and teaching responsibilities, individuals appointed to these positions will be required to provide service at program, department, college, university and to their professional organizations.

Appointment: This is a nine month appointment. The anticipated start date is September 2017. Salary is competitive and commensurate with qualifications.

Applicants should address their qualifications directly in a letter to the Search Committee explaining how their experiences relate to the curriculum and scholarship needs identified. In addition, the application packet should include a current curriculum vita, names of three references and certified academic transcripts. The search committee will begin the review of applications as they are received. The search will remain open until the positions are filled. Letters of application should be addressed to Dr. Khalil Dirani, Chair of the Search Committee and send to: Marie Shelfer, Department of Educational Administration and Human Resource Development, 511 Harrington Tower, 4226 TAMU, Texas A&M University, College Station, TX 77843-4226. (979) 862-4347 (FAX). Completed applications and curriculum vitae may be sent as one complete document electronically as a PDF file to: shelfer@tamu.edu.

Texas A&M University does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, sex, religion, national origin, age, disability, veteran’s status or any other legally protected status of employment.